DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This office action is in response to the amendment submitted on 20 November 2008. Claims 2-4 and 7-23 have been canceled and accordingly claims 1, 5 and 6 are currently pending in the application. In view of the amendments the previous rejections are overcome however in light of the fact of a discovery of new prior art, new rejections are lodged below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Eilerman (US Patent No. 3,261,736A).

The reference teaches, in example 1 the formation of a chromium salt having the formula $\text{Cr}(\text{OH})\text{Cl}_2$ wherein the amount of Cr is 8.21%. Example 12 teaches the use of this salt in an aqueous composition.

The instant claims are met by the reference. As for the amount of oxalic acid it is believed that no oxalic acid is present as the example does not positively recite any oxalic acid being present and the salt is not manufactured using an organic reducing agent having a large number of carbon atoms (which according to the specification results in the presence of oxalic acid in the product).

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by European Patent Specification No. 072,493.

The reference teaches, in the abstract, an aqueous solution of a Cr(III) containing tanning salt comprising $\text{Cr}(\text{OH})\text{Cl}_2$ in combination with CuSO_4 and CaCl_2 .

The instant claim is met by the reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eilerman (US Patent No. 3,261,736A).

The reference was discussed previously.

The instant claim is obvious over the reference. While the reference does not recite that the solution has a specific gravity within that which is claimed, since specific gravity is the ratio of the density of a given solid or liquid to the density of water at a specific temperature, it is believed that one can easily adjust the specific gravity of a composition to that which is needed or desired. That is, it is believed to be within the level of ordinary skill to vary the amounts of the components such as the amount of the water in order to produce a composition having a specific gravity that is needed or desired because "a person of ordinary skill has good reason to pursue the known options with his or her technical grasp. If this leads to the anticipated success, it is likely the product not of innovation but of ordinary skill and common sense."
